

Kinspire's Column

Not only a friend, but something much more; A guide and a role model is what we will strive for.

A Look Back At This Year

As Kinspire is still a very young organization, there is still much to accomplish. During the summer, we are able to make significant progress in multiple facets of the organization. I wanted to share some of these improvements as well as overall progress for our organization:

- Kinspire Board: Earlier this year, we dealt with several turnovers of our board members, but we have solidified these positions.
- Kinspire Volunteers: With the work being completed for the Volunteer Hub, we hope to make the onboarding of new volunteers a much smoother process.
- Kinspire Orphanages: Kinspire has decided to focus on our two orphanages and create an impact before taking on new orphanages. With the launch of the Kinspire Portal, students' progress can be better tracked and problem areas can be pinpointed. In addition, Kinspire is currently finding other ways to support the children in mathematics and science.
- Kinspire Donors: Microsoft is now a donor and will support Kinspire's missions with discounts on products for the children's material. Please visit our website if you want to be a donor!
- Kinspire Curriculum: As we continue to revamp and standardize our curriculum to best suit the students' needs, we are incorporating technical skills for the older children to start computer classes.
- Kinspire Trust: For financial transparency and ease, we have created a Trust in India. We are working on building the proper infrastructure for its sustenance.

A Look Back At This Year

Inside Scoop

The name of our organization comes from combining the two words “kin” and “inspiring” because we consider all the children in our partner orphanages as our brothers and sisters!
